

9) Name: allocation to point source, yacht harbours

Description

The number of berths is the determining factor for the distribution of emissions in yacht harbours. Most important source of these emissions is recreational traffic. KIC Recreatie provided harbour locations and data on the number of berths via the BORIS database, Dutch acronym for Spatial Information on Recreation for Policy Support. In 2011 however, KIC discontinued and data actualization stopped.

Example map 9: number of berths in yacht harbours (2004)

Institutes involved

KIC Recreatie

Currency of data

2004

Background documents

Emission estimates for diffuse sources Netherlands Emission Inventory (2008)

Antifoulants in marinecoatings, recreational boats

Deltares and TNO